

The Daily Union Vedette.

TUESDAY MORNING, JAN. 31, 1865.

Our Mission.

The VEDETTE is attracting more than ordinary attention both at home and abroad. The boldness of its opinions form the subject of frequent comment; and its articles find place in many influential journals, East and West. For the first time since the advent of Brigham Young into these valleys the teachings of Mormonism are exposed with an unsparing pen. The people are counseled by saintly leaders not to read this journal—they are in fact forbidden to read it. But it finds ready access to many homes and is daily increasing its influence with those who really and earnestly desire to receive all the truth. Therefore, carefully read the VEDETTE. They already fear our editorials and dread the publication of their rantings. They tremble in presence of the handwriting upon the wall. They fear the influence of truth, and vainly attempt to retain the priestly power that is daily going from them.

We desire that the mission of the VEDETTE shall be fully understood at home and abroad.

We know that an infamous wrong—subversive of Christianity and morality; and repulsive to every enlightened mind, has threatened to become a power in this Territory—that the people have been led by designing knaves to defy and deride the government under which they live—that an intolerant proscription is exercised towards all who do not bow down and worship the one man power of the Mormon Church.

We know that treason, polygamy and shedding of human blood for the atonement of sin, are taught to the people by the leaders. We know that these leaders curse the government—pray for the downfall of the Nation and refuse to furnish, from their abundance, necessary supplies to the troops in this District.

We know that these leaders have, in the past, ruled this people with a rod of iron—extorted tithings from the industry of their followers and enriched themselves with the proceeds.

We know that the blood of murdered innocents stains the soil of Utah and that those whose hands are red with crime have thus far escaped punishment.

We know that Brigham Young and his Counselors—Apostles, Bishops and Teachers—are open mouthed traitors; and that they defy the law of the land and the authority of the Government.

We will brand these lustful polygamists until they howl in their agony. They shall no longer stand in the presence of the nation, self-constituted paragons of virtue, and wearing a mask behind which is concealed the most infamous and debasing practice of the nineteenth century. We will expose to the men and women of this Territory the aims and intentions of the leaders. We will prove to them that they are imposed upon, swindled and placed in a position of antagonism to the government by these fellows who have stolen the livery of Heaven to serve the Devil. This people shall stand free, and shall be free men and women in every act and word of their lives, subject only to the laws of their country. Utah shall not be controlled in the future as it has been in the past.

The Government will be informed that as Utah is now governed she is unworthy of a State sovereignty. This information will be obtained from the record church leaders have made. We have no occasion to travel outside of the record to obtain any desired information.

We will add our mite to the regeneration of Utah, and until leaders change their tone and talk and practice loyalty and obey all the laws of the Government, the lash will be vigorously applied.

We will root up and expose the wrong, crime and treason now existing in this Territory. The Government shall know how its authority is defied and spit upon.

The VEDETTE was established for this work. It is supported by every friend of the Government in Utah. There is not power enough in the Mormon leaders to crush it. Wherever it is read the people believe it. There is not a word in it that is untrue in any shape, form or manner. These church leaders know it; and the day will come when they will wish that mill stones had been tied to their necks and they then cast into the sea, ere they were induced to betray humanity and outrage every virtuous feeling of a community.

Peace Rumors.

There are many conflicting statements concerning the disposition of rebels to make peace. One dispatch affirms that the government is willing to have peace upon the basis of "the Union as it was and the Constitution as it is," and another dispatch of the same date affirms that in discussing propositions for peace, the President positively refuses to abandon his emancipation proclamation. Another dispatch asserts that Blair has gone to Richmond, duly authorized by the government to make overtures; and immediately following is the assertion that Blair's mission is moonshine. So we have had it for several days, and after reading all the dispatches, we have made up our minds that the question is in a mixed state, and that the telegraph is on a spree. The idea of peace upon the basis of "the Union as it was," is, to say the least, an idle one. Maryland has awakened into a new life and received the baptism of liberty. Missouri has followed in her footsteps. Kentucky, Tennessee, Western Virginia, Arkansas and Louisiana, have purged, or are purging themselves of one of the twin sisters of barbarism. These states will never retrograde. They have commenced a new career leading to a purer political life, and a more glorious destiny. No person on the face of the earth entertains for one moment the idea, that having exchanged the foul habiliments of slavery for the white robe of liberty, they will ever in the future abandon human freedom.

It is, however, certain that rebel leaders are more anxious for peace now than at any other time during the war. The continued success of our armies; the determination manifested by our generals, and the unflinching bravery displayed by our troops, are all operating for the desired end—the downfall of the Southern rebellion.

We are for peace upon these conditions: that the rebels lay down their arms, acknowledge the authority of the government and submit to the laws of the nation. A peace based upon conditions other than these will violate the decision of the nation, as expressed on the first of last November, and as reaffirmed by the President in the closing paragraph of his recent message to Congress.

So far as we are concerned we give no particular credit to these rumors, unless they are based upon the conditions already mentioned. The talk about Davis taking his followers into Mexico and whipping out the French, and eventually annexing that country to the United States, is simply "bosh." We give Davis credit for more sense. The simple truth is this: The rebel leaders have nearly exhausted all their resources. Grant and his Lieutenants have penetrated the very vitals of the so-called Confederacy. They have proved to the world and to the rebel leaders that the strength of the rebellion is no more than an egg-shell, having no meat inside. Rebel armies are defeated at every point, and rebel cities are falling into our possession. They are compelled to acknowledge the hopelessness of their cause. The pressure from the people is already dangerous. Vigorous war will accomplish the end and vindicate and maintain the authority of the government. Then let us have vigorous war until the Southern people force rebel leaders to do all that is asked of them—lay down their arms, acknowledge the authority of the government and submit to the laws of the nation. They will incur no disgrace in doing so; and in doing so, will not do more than any government has a right to demand of rebellious subjects.

We find the following in the San Francisco Alta:

SMELTING WORKS FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—Mr. Theophilus Scheuner, who erected the works known as a thoroughly practical smelter and refiner of metals, has, within the past month, erected at No. 39 Fremont street, near Market, in the rear of Steen's machine shop, two blast furnaces and a refining furnace, for the purpose of smelting and refining copper, gold and silver from the native ores of California and Arizona. These furnaces were set to work for the first time, upon the heavy, argentiferous galena ore, largely impregnated with sulphur, from the San Francisco and Castle Dome Mining Company's mines, in Castle Dome District, Arizona. In five hours, six bars of base bullion—lead and silver—weighing about 100 pounds each, were produced, and with the same furnaces in complete working order, Mr. Scheuner thinks he can turn out one such bar every half hour in the day. The fluxes and ore are prepared by Mr. Scheuner, and the operation seems to be a perfect success. The gold, silver and copper "refractory" ores of the Weaver, La Paz, Chihuahua, William's Fork and other Districts of the Colorado, can be worked even better by this process, and if it will prove as great a success as Mr. Scheuner believes it will, the erection of such furnaces in this city would prove of great benefit to the mining interests.

If Mr. Scheuner can also (as he advertises) separate the silver from lead by his refining furnace, he can make his everlasting fortune by turning his attention to the mines at Rush Valley, thirty-eight miles from Salt Lake City. We trust that some of the enterprising miners will look into this a little. We venture the prediction that he who first erects a refining furnace in Rush Valley capable of separating the precious from the baser metal, will make a fortune. Verbum sat sap.

COMPLIMENT FROM GENERAL SCOTT.—Something over a month since General Grant made a quiet visit to his family in New York. He also called on Gen. Scott. When General Grant rose to take his leave General Scott presented him with a volume of his autobiography with this written on the fly-leaf: "From the oldest to the ablest General in the world. WINFIELD SCOTT."—Eastern Paper.

Commenting on the above, a correspondent of the New York Express says:

Lieutenant General Scott committed a lapsus penne the other day by writing himself "the oldest General in the world," for there are several Generals living older than he, and I wish to call your attention to one in particular, who really happens to be "the oldest General in the world." I refer to the distinguished soldier, Field Marshal Viscount Combermere, whose designation points to the highest rank in the British army. The rank of Field Marshal was conferred upon Viscount Combermere for his eminent services both in India and on the continent of Europe, and for which he repeatedly received the thanks of Parliament, having finally being elevated to the British Peerage by the title of Viscount Combermere. He was born in 1769, and therefore is seventeen years the senior of General Scott.

Having "done for" the old veteran can't some other copperhead journal undertake to prove that Gen. Grant is not "the ablest General in the world." A friend of ours the other day took Gen. Scott to task on the ground that Marshal Radetsky would have been older than Gen. Scott, if he hadn't died a year or two ago. Probably Julius Caesar or Peter the Great might put in the same claim.

[COMMUNICATED.]

ERINA, U. T., January 21th, 1865.

Editor Vedette:—In regard to numerous correspondents from the East and West desirous of ascertaining information in regard to these mines, I desire by your permission, through your columns to promulgate the following particulars and facts in connection with the prospects and progress of Gold Cañon Mining District.

I will proceed to give a succinct account from the first discovery and organization by the pioneers, who are now here laboring with the pick and shovel, notwithstanding the cold winter weather, in developing the mineral wealth of this Cañon.

One year ago from last September these mines were discovered by Infantry soldiers while being stationed at the Overland Mail Station, as guard against Indian depredations. On one beautiful morning a couple of the soldiers agreed to go in search of ledges in the vicinity where some very rich "float rock" had been picked up some two years previous to this time. As they were making their way up a very steep mountain, about two miles from the station, one of the party, while in a stooping attitude, discerned a small piece of fine looking rock, and, on close observation, he found gold, coarse and fine, visible, and beautiful to behold. He informing his companion, who was not far off, drew near to the scene, which greatly excited their curiosity. Then came "quartz on the brain." As they emerged towards the point of a bluff of slate rock they broke off a piece of rock and found it to be a quartz ledge and full of gold, and favorable indications of silver. On testing the rock more closely, they found it immensely rich. They immediately returned and developed their discoveries and proceeded at once and organized a District which is now known as "Gold Cañon Mining District." On account of being enlisted men they were obliged to suspend operations until they were free from Uncle Sam. Late last fall their term of service expired and they returned to the land of gold and silver. Since the presence of the Gold Cañon Company to this place they have been progressing rapidly on their lode, and taken out several tons of rock, burning it preparatory for crushing. I was present, two days ago, and examined some of the rock broken off the ledge and found some that had been burnt, and found it to be very rich in gold, and visible in fine and coarse throughout the rock, and unmistakably a very valuable lode as far as the mind is capable of judging at the present time.

The Gilligan lode was discovered early last Spring and the Social Company have been constantly at work up to the present time. On the first shaft they have sunk 200 feet and have accumulated a large amount of paying rock, which keeps the mill in operation every week-day. They have enough on hand to keep it running nights, but on account of the deficiency of pans they suspended until more is procured, in order to work the mill to an advantage. When the Company get down to water-level they expect to strike sulphuretted rock. The second shaft proves to be as valuable as the first—one piece of rock weighing sixty pounds, is valued at one dollar per pound.

The Wash i-kee Company have their mill on the ground selected for a mill-site, and are building a house and making arrangements to erect a mill and have it running by the first of April.

The St. Louis Company are building a water-mill and intend to have it completed by March or April.

The New York Company, I am informed, have a mill which was manufactured at Burlington, Mich., in readiness to freight over the plains in the Spring. They, also, have men at work sinking on the Jenny Lind, and a large amount of valuable rock on hand ready for crushing.

The Galesburg Company are making rapid progress on their shaft, and according to the requirement of the laws they have done enough to make it real estate. The rock looks tolerably well for the depth.

The large lode running in a different direction from the others (North and South) and the quality of quartz for the depth, is not surpassed in the district. There are a great number of ledges in the District that look very favorable on the surface, but on account of their being at a stand still, it is not known what they will develop in sinking thirty or forty feet.

A small prospecting party that left here and went north, have returned and brought in some very fine specimens, with the mineral visible. The discoverries were made forty miles from this place, at the sink of Deep creek. They located several lodes which are considered to be very rich in silver and gold.

Building here is progressing very slow, the weather is so very cold, and the ground so frozen that the people here were under the necessity of suspending operations until Spring. A large number are getting their building materials in readiness to build as soon as the ground thaws out.

There are a great many holding claims who have not done any work on them since they were located, and according to the specified term given by the laws of the district, they will soon be subject to re-location. I would suggest to all parties interested in this district, who have not fulfilled the requirements of the laws, to draw near and give their attention—they shall be heard.

Several fine brick buildings are intended to be erected in the coming summer. The time is not far distant when this young bright "Diana" will glisten forth to the world like the North Star, so attractive that all can see the beauty of her holiness, and the unbounded riches which surround her.

Yours, Respectfully, FRANKLIN.

CHARLES H. HEMPESTEAD publishes his valedictory in the Camp Douglas Vedette of December 21st. The Vedette is a spicy little soldier-sheet, thoroughly Union, of course, and has accomplished much good in its sphere. The retiring editor says:

"It was at first but a hazardous experiment, but has gone on increasing in strength, and we would fain believe in usefulness, until to-day it is an established institution in Utah. As the pioneer daily, it has felt the importance of its mission, and has dealt with men and things in candor, frankness and fairness. The events of the last year have proven our early words, 'that Utah was in the dawn of a new era.' Every industrial enterprise has progressed; the mines have obtained importance, the people are prosperous; and above all, they have advanced in enlightenment as well as in their pecuniary affairs."—Sac. Bee.

The Bee always one of our most useful and interesting exchanges, has come out in an entire new dress, on the occasion of the commencement of a new volume. It is not only a spicy but a well edited and conducted paper. We congratulate it on its improved appearance. Its matter, editorial and news, could hardly be improved.

FOLSOM PRAISE.—The Folsom Telegraph, conducted by a lady, (Mrs. O. D. Avaline) says:

"Capt. Elias B. Zabriskie, of Co. A, 1st Battalion Nevada Cavalry, has been promoted to the position of Major of that Battalion; a portion of this command is now stationed at Fort Bridger, and another portion constitute the Provost Guard at Salt Lake City and a lively time they have occasionally with the sainted scoundrels of that den of iniquity. The promotion of Capt. Zabriskie is well deserved, he is a brave man and an old soldier, having fought when a mere boy in the battle of Buena Vista, alongside of his uncle, Capt. Jacob Zabriskie, who fell along with Clay, Hardin, and other brave men in the overwhelming charge made by the Mexicans when those men lost their lives. Major Zabriskie is a Jersey Blue, sound and true, loves his flag and hates a traitor. Long may he wave."

The above may be Folsom praise, but we reckon it's deserved. But then the Major's married since he came to the fair land of Utah. However, Brigham says that makes no difference out here in sage brush.

CAN'T BE GUILTY.—The Copperhead papers are insisting that Michal Hayes cannot be guilty of connection with a piratical scheme, because in years gone by he was engaged in raising and selling vegetables! Such reasoning is profoundly wise and wholly conclusive.—California Ec.

Perhaps he went into the piratical conspiracy "just for greens."

CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH.—In Sweden they send children who are afflicted with the whooping cough to the gas works, in order that the change of atmosphere may cure them.

Wonder if that accounts for so many urethras hanging around the office of our city contemporary?

MANY thanks, friend Richard, for that list.

Local Matters.

SUNDAY SCHOOL IN CAMP DOUGLAS.—The Rev. Norman McLeod having tendered a library and other books, suitable for a Sabbath School, to be established in this Camp, a meeting of parents and others interested was held on Sunday evening last, in the meeting room at the infantry quarters, when the preliminary arrangements were made for opening that room for a Sabbath School, next Sunday afternoon, immediately after divine service.

Moses Austin, Co. "C," Nev. Cav., was chosen superintendent, and Sam'l Allen and the other members of the church choir have kindly volunteered their services.

After a vote of thanks to the Rev. N. McLeod, for the interest he had displayed in the spiritual necessities of the soldiers and others at Camp Douglas, the meeting adjourned until Sunday next, when its promoters hope to meet a goodly number of the children and young persons in this vicinity.

DASHAWAY ASSOCIATION.—The following persons are the officers of this temperance society for the ensuing year: President, John Acton; Vice Presidents, Patrick Conway and L. P. Howell; Treasurer, Louis Sterns; Secretary, Henry Young; Assistant Secretary, John Johnson; Chaplain, David Hoge; Marshal, Franklin Taylor; Deputy Marshal, Joseph Peltier; Door-keeper, John Shick. This society holds meetings every Friday evening, in the infantry quarters, next the post bakery. The number of members has steadily increased during the past term, and the officers are confident of a good increase during the present quarter.

Mr. W. L. SHOLES, of the United States Saloon, has received a splendid lot of saloon fixtures. This pleasant place of resort now presents greater attractions than ever. The liquors, wines and cigars kept at Mr. Sholes' Bar, are none but the very best, and as for the cocktails, punches and toddies, that are here mixed, why, it is only necessary to ask Johnny Conly, and with the most gracious smile, they are immediately before you. Johnny is "on the mix," if you don't believe us try him.

SABBATH SCHOOL.—It is proposed to establish a Sabbath School in Salt Lake City. All those friendly to the movement are requested to meet at Daft's Hall, this day (Tuesday) at two P. M.

Snow.—We had quite a snow storm Sunday morning, weather milder than usual.

The election of officers in Garrison Lodge, I. O. G. T., takes place this evening at their hall.

No telegraphic news greets us to-day, the wires having broken in the vicinity of Mud Springs.

A BRAVE NAN.—One who isn't afraid to wear old clothes until he is able to pay for new ones.

Corner Emigration Street and State road,

HOW COURAGE IS IMPARTED.—A bold, hopeful man inspires courage in many weaker minds, for there is something in the human soul that responds to the call of a noble example. Mr. Watson says, in the Atlantic Monthly:

A little girl sleeping by her mother's side awoke in a thunder-storm, and nestling in terror near to the mother, and shrinking into the smallest possible space, said, tremblingly:

"Mother, are you afraid?"
"No, my dear," answered the lady, calmly.

"O, well," said the child, assuming her full proportions, and again disposing herself for sleep, "if you're not afraid, I'm not afraid," and was soon slumbering quietly.

What volumes of gravest human history in that little incident! So infinitely easy are daring and magnanimity, so easy is transcendent light of thought and will when exalted spiritually, when imperial purpose and valor breathe and blow upon our souls from the lips of a living fellow! Not, it may be, that anything new is said; that is not required. What another now thrills, inspires, transfigures as by saying, we probably knew before, only dared not let ourselves think that we knew it. The universe, perhaps, had not a nook so hidden that therein we could have been solitary enough to whisper that divine suggestion to our own hearts. But now some child-like man stands up and speaks it to the common air, in serene unconsciousness of doing anything singular. He has said it—and lo, he lives! By the help of God, then, we, too, by word and deed, will utter our souls.

DEATH OF MRS. ELIZA W. FARNHAM.—The announcement of the death of this greatly intellectual and philanthropic woman in New York, on the 15th of December, will bring grief to the heart of the many friends in California who knew how to appreciate her intellectual power, her earnest efforts in works of philanthropy and social reform, her devotion to the cause of benevolence and the elevation of the character of woman. The severe school of her youth, as portrayed in her book entitled "My Early Days," taught her a lesson of wisdom which ripened with her years, although it essentially saddened her life. She early gave indications of mental power. Fowler, the noted phrenologist, pointed her out in a large school of young ladies, when she was a pupil, (not knowing aught of her, except as her head and expression informed him), as a woman of great intellectual strength and promise. Her subsequent career proved the truth of his prediction. Of all the "strong-minded" women of this country, Mrs. Farnham was probably the most gifted with the power of analysis, of originality, and boldness of thought, treated philosophically. She had less of show, but more of strength, than any of them. She is best known as an author by her first and last works, "Life in the Prairie Land," and "The Era of Woman." She was a woman of noble nature.—Morning Call.
